1	Under the technical requirements comprehensive specifications section of the tender, in the event, we foresee a better alternative to the hardware listed in the datasheet, can we instead use (in the bidders' response) what we propose and deem suitable for the project based on the solution we are offering, also, based on the previous projects carried out? Our solutions are accompanied by recommended system specification and standards which might deviate (in terms of your minimum specifications), in this case, will this be considered in your technical evaluations or inadmissible?	Our Technical requirements are based on minimum specifications; therefore, we welcome bidders to submit tools with higher specifications or equivalent.
2	What are the examples of " KRA existing data sources " as referenced in item 5.5 of the technical requirements comprehensive specifications section of the tender document?	KRA existing data sources are the current data solutions within KRA. The idea is to provide a solution or tool that is compatible with most of database types.

Or	1) Local Training: training within the country and provided by local based training institution/firms. 2) International Training: Trainings by institution/firms from outside the country.
